LEADING BUSINESS ASSOCIATION APPOINTS NEW PRESIDENT

The Group of 100 (“G100”) today announced it had appointed Andrew Porter as its new President following the conclusion of Zlatko Todorcevski’s two-year term.

Mr Todorcevski said he was delighted with the appointment and said that Mr Porter’s vast experience would help the G100 become a significant voice for senior finance executives in Australia.

“Andrew is a highly-respected CFO and Non-Executive Director. He has led debates on tax reform, development of Australia’s capital markets, external reporting and diversity in the finance sector over many years.

With a strong track record as an advocate in these areas, I am sure Andrew will provide strong leadership as the G100 ramps up public positions in these critical areas,” Mr Todorcevski said.

Mr Porter said that he was honoured to be taking on the role. “I am very pleased to be taking on this role at such a pivotal time in Australia’s development. We face a number of critical issues that will impact Australia’s competitiveness. The G100 has an important agenda as we advocate for reform that will support economic growth, increase participation and productivity so we can create more jobs and opportunities for Australians,” he said.

Mr Todorcevski also announced that Mark McNamara would join Mr Porter as Vice President of the G100. “Mark has broad experience as a CFO, COO and Non-Executive Director. His enthusiasm and wide experience will ensure the G100 can take the lead in many important debates over the future of the economy.”

Mr Porter and Mr McNamara will take up the new roles in January next year. The appointments come after Stephen Woodhill was recently appointed the new CEO of the Group of 100.
