CFO Peak Body Elects New National President and Deputy President

The Group of 100 (G100), the peak body for Australia's senior finance executives, has today announced the election of Zlatko Todorcevski as its National President.

Mr Todorcevski has been Chief Financial Officer of Brambles Limited since 2012 and has held CFO positions at Oil Search Ltd and BHP Billiton's Energy business.

Mr Todorcevski says he's honoured to be elected President of the G100.

"The G100, through its advocacy on key financial and business issues, has a critical role to play in strengthening Australia's international competitiveness," Mr Todorcevski said.

"We bring together the top financial executives from the nation's major private and public business enterprises and we're proactive in driving discussion on key policy issues ranging from tax reform to financial reporting and capital markets."

Mr Todorcevski paid tribute to his predecessor, Cochlear Limited CFO Neville Mitchell.

"I thank Neville for his tremendous contribution as G100 President over the last two years. He's built an impressive platform for the G100 which I'm determined to build on.

The G100 has also announced the election of Gillian Larkins as Deputy President. Ms Larkins has been CFO at Perpetual since 2013 and has held senior finance positions with Westpac, Citigroup and Woolworths.

"I look forward to working with Gillian, the National Executive, staff of the G100 and current and prospective members to ensure the G100 remains the pre-eminent voice of Australia's senior finance executives," Mr Todorcevski said.

The Group of 100 is Australia's peak body representing senior finance executives from the nation's major private and business enterprises.
